Pupils and staff at Vale of Evesham School are enjoying a peaceful working environment thanks to their new Designflooring floor being installed in a busy corridor.

Designflooring recommended the larger plank design, thicker wear layer and higher slip rating offered by its popular Van Gogh collection as the perfect solution to reduce noise levels and create a contemporary look.

Opting for Van Gogh 'Country Oak', Vale of Evesham School was able to achieve the authentic rustic appearance of unfinished timbers, without the natural drawbacks of real wood.

"We've been desperate to replace the flooring in the school corridor and make the central walkway more inviting for students, staff and visitors," commented Shani Brough, headteacher of Vale of Evesham School.

She said: "As you can imagine, there's a lot of regular traffic walking through this area, therefore we needed a flooring product which would withstand the demand but still look beautiful.

"We're thrilled with our new Designflooring floor; it's not only easy to maintain but also acoustically it's warmer and softer underfoot, meaning less disruption for students."
